Laura Allison is Sustainability Specialist for Bupa Dental Care and a General Dental Practitioner, combining her two passions of healthcare and environmental and social sustainability. As well as working in the dental sector, her sustainability experience has spanned clinical practice, healthcare and the higher education sector.

Learning objectives

- Obtain an understanding of sustainability, environmental issues and climate change
- Understand the link between the health of people and the planet and the environmental impact of dentistry
- Gain an awareness of actions that can be taken in dental settings to bring about sustainable change across the sector
- Feel inspired to create an action plan to implement sustainable actions in practice.
